

It is very important to me that helicopter flights have a higher minimum altitude, especially for Hawaii's wildlife. However, unless the FAA thinks we need to kill more helicopter pilots and passengers as a means to control population, the affect of crashes on humans is well, deadly as well. My travel agency has stopped selling helicopter tours as too dangerous.